GROUP RACKET SPORTS PRODUCT MANAGEMENT OPPORTUNITIES - DUNLOP SLAZENGER

Leading sporting goods company Dunlop Slazenger International is looking to expand its racket sports product team to drive the categories forward on a global basis and further enhance its reputation at the heart of sporting goods innovation.

The available roles are Indoor Sports Product Manager and Assistant Racket Sports Product Manager. The indoor sports role covers all products within squash, badminton, racket-ball and table tennis categories, whilst the assistant role will work across both tennis and indoor sports.

Key responsibilities will be to creatively drive the respective categories at group level across all international markets. This will include developing and launching cutting edge product ranges which best fit market requirements in order to maximise the groups profitable sales growth. The roles will suit ambitious, versatile individuals looking for an exciting challenge within the sports industry.

Experience in product/category management is required for the Indoor Sports role and a level of relevant commercial experience is required for the assistant role. For both positions a passion/knowledge of sports equipment is required and sports industry specific experience is an advantage but not essential.

Salary: Dependant on experience.

How to apply: Dunlop Slazenger is part of the Sports Direct Group. Please apply through www.sportsdirect.com/careers and follow the link to Dunlop Slazenger, ensuring you upload your full CV when requested.
